HEALTH

Over the centuries, many cultures have sought out the benefits of silver. Silver is a natural micro-element needed by the body, which appears to be increasingly unavailable in modern diets. Our Colloidal Silver meets the quality, size and concentration levels researched for the highest safety and effectiveness offering unsurpassed quality for better nutritional health.

Particle size and concentration are key considerations when choosing a colloidal silver supplement. Smaller particles are more easily absorbed, so that is why our silver is .001 microns of silver at ten parts per million making it ideal for both safety and potential effectiveness. Our silver is also 99.99% pure, and our electro-colloidal process creates negatively charged ions that repel each other to produce perfectly uniform distribution and concentration.
